

Ellis Paul Illustrator Bio

As well as being an acclaimed songwriter, Ellis Paul is a working artist, illustrator, and cartoonist. Ellis has drawn and painted since he was a child. He drew a cartoon strip for The Heights, the campus newspaper at Boston College that parodied campus life in the 1980s.

He has drawn and designed logos, advertisements, album art work, political cartoons, painted furniture, inspirational art, teaching posters, books, and promotional art. He has designed the artwork used for posters and t-shirts for several of the annual Woody Guthrie Folk Festivals.

Paul's teaching and motivational posters are on display in music venues, writing rooms, and recording studios across the country. These posters can be purchased in his website store at this link:

<https://ellispaull.com/product/intro>

Paul's illustrations are hand drawn, sometimes irreverent designs that warmly pull the viewer into the essence of the subject. Here are a few other examples of Ellis' artwork. (Many others can be viewed on his Facebook page.)

If interested in hiring Ellis as an illustrator, please email Ellis: ellispaullmanagement@gmail.com